

FOR TRAVELERS!

♥ “The limited-edition Johnnie Walker Blue Label Miami, available only at the MIA location near D16, was created by local Miami illustrator Ernesto Maranje. It brings to life the brand’s journey from the agricultural lands of Kilmarnock in Scotland to the shores of Miami through a series of hand-drawn illustrations.”
$500; shopmiamiairport.com.

19

▶ Greg Chin, communications and digital marketing director for the Miami-Dade Aviation Department, has the best suggestion for killing time at Miami International Airport: Do your holiday shopping while you wait to depart. As the ultimate insider, Chin has some downright ingenious suggestions — you may find yourself wanting to book a flight just to snap up some of these highly desirable presents.

▶ “Miami is one of the top fishing locations in the world, so of course you can buy fresh Florida stone crabs in the airport. Pick up a box of Florida’s famous crabs at MIA’s Prive Gourmet Market (by Gate D34) or have them shipped to your gift recipient’s destination.”
shopmiamiairport.com.

20

21

♥ “For the cigar aficionado, a set of hand-rolled Cuban-style cigars from Cuban Crafters, near Gate D26, is a definite ‘so Miami’ gift.”
cubancrafters.com.

♥ “Whether you’re dressing up or down, nothing says Miami like the cool comfort of a linen guayabera for men or women. You can pick up one (or more) at Cubavera in Concourse J or the Havana Shirt Store in the Central Terminal.”
From $28; cubavera.com.

22

23

▶ “If you really want to impress your holiday dinner guests, give them the royal treatment with a 17-pound Pata Negra Jamón Ibérico from Cinco Jotas, also available at Prive Gourmet Market. It comes in a leather carrying case, and MIA is the only airport in the country that sells the exclusive acorn-fed ham.”
shopmiamiairport.com.

♥ “Quick slip-on loafers are a must for getting through the TSA checkpoint with ease. Johnston & Murphy near Gate D30 has dressy, casual and easily removable styles for men and women.”
From $100; johnstonmurphy.com.

24

