A EUROPEAN TASTE OF ADVENTURE

Globetrotting tastemakers continue to look for a different kind of experience, a chance to step outside the norm, and opportunities to gain inspiration. According to research, 41% of Kiwis hope to be more adventurous with their food choices while travelling, so on our recent tour of Europe we used Booking.com to find centrally-located accommodation options that would help in the pursuit of quality cuisine.

DENMARK

AXEL GULDSMEDEN, COPENHAGEN

*Colbjørnsensgade 14, Vesterbro,
1653 Copenhagen*

Copenhagen was our chance to find design inspiration and fulfil our interior decorating dreams. From the vibrant houses lining the waterways, to the bright colours of the Tivoli Gardens, colour runs through the city and informs the vibe of its people. Axel Guldsmeden is located in the Vesterbro district, home to Copenhagen's best restaurants and designer shops. Only a short walk from major sightseeing spots, it was the best place to be. The Axel Guldsmeden brings together the style and quirky attitude of the city, while including hints of other cultures that move throughout the city. Each room is individually designed, fitted with Balinese-style accents, art hangings and Persian rugs.

TASTE OF COPENHAGEN

Smørrebrød was original reserved for farmers' lunches, but is now a local delicacy with a contemporary twist on tradition. The open sandwich uses rye bread, meat or fish and is topped with vegetables. It's difficult to eat out in Copenhagen without spotting Smørrebrød on the menu.
